

NEW
NEW
NEW

Report released on 18 December 2009-International Migrants Day

Size : 205mm x 280mm

Pages : xiii+147

Year : 2009

Binding : Paperback

ISBN : 9788190978002

Rs. 995.00 (South Asia)
US$ 55.00 (Rest of the World)

INDIA MIGRATION REPORT 2009

PAST, PRESENT AND THE FUTURE OUTLOOK

General Editor: Binod Khadria

Binod Khadria is Professor of Economics at the Zakir Husain Centre for Educational Studies, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University.

INDIA MIGRATION REPORT 2009

PAST, PRESENT AND THE FUTURE OUTLOOK

General Editor: Binod Khadria

India has the distinction of being recognized as an important country of origin of migrants in many receiving countries of the world. India also receives a large number of immigrants, mostly originating from its neighboring countries in Asia and some from other countries as well. However, despite having significant stakes in international migration of human resources the issue of mobility has largely remained a neglected area in the academic and policy circles in India. Hardly any regular and comprehensive institutional mechanism for collecting, maintaining and disseminating systematic information on international migration exists in India excepting a few individual initiatives here and there. It is only in the closing decades of the 20th century that migration has started drawing greater attention of stakeholders in policy sphere, in academia and the civil society in India. In this context, publication of this first India Migration Report aims to make a small beginning towards bridging a vital gap. The 2009 Report provides an overview of migration from India to the major destination countries as well as immigration to India. The focus of the report is to put together issues and concerns of significance in the contemporary contexts of migration – both continuing and emerging - and bring out a systematic, regular and futuristic source of information and analysis on international mobility of people involving India. A modest attempt today, it is hoped that the Report will help us build upon the available data sources, and also identify and generate new avenues.

From the Foreword

“The Report has delineated the contemporary features of human migration with great skill.”

Tapas Majumdar

First Reactions

“It seems very interesting, and I look forward to benefiting from the report.”

Amartya Sen, Jan 7, 2010

“I look forward to reading it.”

Jagdish Bhagwati, Jan 1, 2010

“...the data compiled in it is revealing.”

M. Hamid Ansari,
Vice-President of India,
March 18, 2010

Press Comments

“A new look at migration issues in India.”

The Hindu, Jan 7, 2010

“...the first of its kind.”

Mint, Jan 15, 2010

“This report will help young Indians unravel what involves the migration of human capital to distant shores.”

Geography and You – a development and environment magazine
Vol. 10, Issue 58, Jan–Feb 2010

“... a well researched report on the migration question...”

The Telegraph, March 15, 2010

Exclusively distributed by

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS
India Private Limited
www.cambridgeindia.org

Cambridge House, 4381/4, Ansari Road, Daryaganj, New Delhi-110002
Tel.: 43543500 Fax: 23288534 Email: cupdel@cambridge.org

To search and order online: www.cambridgeindia.org